

“MAGNIFICENT MONUMENTS
SYMBOLISING THE VISION
AND GROWTH OF A NATION.”

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT

STRUCTURE

- The two towers are linked by the Skybridge at Levels 41 and 42
- An annexe that reaches the 44th floor is attached to each tower

PINNACLES

- Houses the aircraft warning lights and external building maintenance equipment
- Each of the two pinnacles is made up of a spire ring ball, a 23-segmented mast and a ring ball

EXTERIOR

- 33,000 pieces of stainless steel and 55,000 pieces of glass panels form the towers' wall cladding
- Stainless steel sun visors shaped like teardrops line the vision glass to shade the interior against strong sunlight

INTERIOR

- The design and patterns of the entrance hall's foyer are based on traditional Malay motifs of handicraft and weaving
- The wall panels and screens are inspired by the traditional "Songket" and hardwood carvings from the East Coast of Peninsular Malaysia
- The floor designs were created following the patterns of pandan weaving and "Bertam" palm wall matting
